

Young Anne Crofton

must leave behind her girlhood fancies of love when her family sells her into marriage to a man she's never met. In the home of Lord Wolverton, Master of the Wolf's Aerie, she finds herself thrust into a mystery with danger, betrayal, and sword fighting in a castle with secret passageways. With courage, faith in God, and a personal resolve to be a good wife despite her heartache, she seeks Biblical wisdom in the pursuit of true love. You will become lost in another time and place and won't want to put the book down.

What a triumph! Leonora's best book ever. A gripping love story with the page-turning pacing of a Gothic romance and fairy-tale evocations of Beauty and the Beast. A heart-stopping tale set in the wilds of 18th-century Yorkshire with Pruner's superb period detail and spot-on theology. — Donna Fletcher Crow, Author
A Very Private Grave, in The Monastery Murders Series

A wonderful book that captures the imagination with characters for whom you care deeply. I recommend this book to all who enjoy a dramatic and unique love story. — Hazel Statham, Author, His Shadowed Heart
Lizzie's Rake, The Portrait

A story of intrigue, love, and faith awaits the reader. I highly recommend it! — Cheryl C. Malandrinos
